DIRECTOR OF UPCOMING ANTI-CIA FILM INTERVIEWED

Rome AVANTI! in Italian 23 Jun 74 p 6

[Interview with director Giuseppe Ferrara by Socialist Party daily correspondent Salvatore Piscicelli, place and date not given.]

"Spy-Face" [Faccia di Spia] is the title of a movie about the United States secret services which Giuseppe Ferrara is getting ready to shoot for the cooperative film company known as Cine 2000. The project is an interesting one, not only because the topic is fascinating, but also, as we shall see, because of the way it is to be produced. The picture will enjoy, among other advantages, the support of a large group of artists of all kinds (the names range from Rafael Alberti to Carlo Levi, from Enrico Baj to Arnaldo and Gio Pomodoro, from Corrado Cagli to Mario Ceroli, to name just a few picked at random), who have offered a total of more than 50 works. These contributions were used in late May and early June to mount an exhibit at the Arco Incontri Gallery in Rome, which will subsequently travel to other cities.
